- Assault artillery is separate from the infantry divisions, and comes directly under a higher command.
- 5. There is only one parachute company under the battalion HQ at Szolnok, besides some partisan parachutists. An effort to expand this unit is expected.
- 6. The frontier rifle troops have not been disbanded but regrouped; the political frontier police are a separate organization. The police forces are well enough armed and motorized, with assault battalions, to assure internal security without the aid of the army.
- 7. Locations of the 2nd and 7th Infantry Divisions:
  - a. 2nd Inf. Div. HQ, Székesfehérvár.

"Rakoczy Ferenc" Assault Regt., Székesfehérvár. Fusilier Regt., battalions at Cyör, Sopron, and Csorna. Artillery groups at Komarom and Székesfehérvár.

b. 7th Inf. Div. HQ, Pécs.

"Kiss Janos" Assault Regt., battalions at Pécs, Szekszárd, and Kaposvár. Fusilier Regt., Nagykanizsa, Nagyatád, and Egerszeg. Artillery groups at Pécs, Tolna, and Nagykanizsa.

8. It is understood that an effort is being made to bring all units up to full strength during 1950. At the same time three or four additional divisions are planned, but will not be activated until 1951.* For 1952 plans call for 12 infantry divisions and two armored divisions.
